Hoi An village

Hoi An has been rated the best place to visit in Vietnam. The spellbinding architectural sites such as the Japanese Covered Bridge, Phuoc Kien Assembly Hall, and Old House of Tan Ky, etc are parts of the reason why Hoi An was declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site. When the night falls, Hoi An is even more beautiful than anyone can ever imagine. All the streets are filled with illuminated lanterns and the Thu Bon River running through the town is also brightened up with lots of sparkling candles.

Vietnam

Ha Long Bay is a magnificent artwork of nature, awarded the World Heritage Site for its aesthetic and geomorphological values. This site contains a multitude of stunning limestone pillars sitting on the emerald water, caves, and islands, which have a long history of human use.
